ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT
JOHNS-MANVILLE
How Much Fuel Do You Waste?

According to heating experts you may be wasting as much as 10 percent of the fuel you use. With present indications pointing to a fuel shortage this winter, it is important to keep the heating plant in your home at peak efficiency.

One sure way to see that you are getting full benefit from the fuel you burn is to have your furnace, hot water tank and all heating pipes covered with Johns-Manville asbestos insulation. These J-M insulations can help you save several tons of coal each year or the equivalent in gas or oil. They keep heat from escaping into your cellar—help send it upstairs where you want it!

Johns-Manville suggests you ask your plumber about Asbestos-Boiler Jackets and Pipe Coverings. He'll show you how they can save you up to 10 percent on your fuel bills, every year.

Lack of Highway Said Preposterous
By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA.—The prairie provinces are far behind most other provinces of the dominion in respect to the amount of hard-surfaced highway they possess along the Trans-Canada highway route, J. A. Probe, C.C.P. Regina City, told the commonwealth.

Presenting a resolution from the Saskatchewan tourist convention asking that the province enter an agreement with the federal government for the construction of two east-west and one north-south hard-surfaced highways, Mr. Probe said that it was "preposterous" that Canadians wishing to motor across the dominion had to use United States highways in order to complete their trip.

Canadians, he said, could reasonably expect steps toward implementing a program for a trans-Canada highway system.

Quoting a government return, Mr. Probe gave the following figures as representing the amount of hard-surfaced highway possessed by the various provinces forming a part of the present trans-Canada highway route: P.E.I., 52 miles; Nova Scotia, 262; New Brunswick, 272; Quebec, 386; Ontario, 427; Manitoba, 37; Saskatchewan, 40; Alberta, 55; British Columbia 377.

Logger Shortage Critical at Coast

VANCOUVER, (CP).—Shortage of loggers in forests along the British Columbia coast is critical, John Burke, secretary-manager of the B.C. Loggers' association, said Tuesday.

Declaring the shortage is more critical than in the war years, Mr. Burke said unless 2,000 to 3,000 return to the woods immediately 1946 production may fall below that of 1945.

An employment agency operator said "even big pay" in logging operations fails to tempt men. Woods workers were given a 15-cent hourly wage boost in June.

He said three factors keeping men out of the woods are attractions of city life, salmon fishing and ability to live on war service gratuities.

Lord Alexander Visits Saskatoon

SASKATOON, (CP).—Field Marshal Alexander, governor-general of Canada, under whose command thousands of Canadian soldiers fought in Italy, Tuesday came to Saskatoon, and immediately plunged into a round of visits. He was accompanied by Viscountess Alexander.

After a reception at the depot, the governor-general laid a wreath at the cenotaph and then went to Woodlawn cemetery where a graveservant lay buried.

Later he visited the military hospital, greeting many soldiers who are still suffering from war wounds. On his journey to the University of Saskatchewan he stopped briefly at the Normal school, where 800 students graduating Tuesday, welcomed him.

At the university, Viscount Alexander was greeted by the chancellor, Mr. Justice Maclean, and President Thomson. He drove around the campus and paid a brief visit to Emmanuel college.

He was a guest of the city at a luncheon, attended by visiting mayors from adjoining cities and towns.

Hourly Pay Rates 15-20 Cents Higher

VANCOUVER, (CP).—Trade union leaders here disclosed Tuesday that hourly wage raises varying from 15 to 20 cents have been approved by the regional war labor board for more than 5,000 British Columbia industrial workers.

Shipyard workers, steel workers, construction men, mechanics and operating engineers are the main categories covered in wage boosts. Union officials said almost all the workers also were granted a 40-hour week.

In addition, 400 employees of the Yukon consolidated gold corporation at Dawson, Yukon, will get increases of 18 cents an hour, said Harvey Murphy, western regional director of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (I.U.M.W.).

The regional board considered the joint wage applications, over their previously set 10-cent limit, last week and approved them almost in their entirety, despite opposition from Prices Board chairman Donald Gordon.

Resents Attitude On Social Credit

OTTAWA, (CP).—John Blackmore (S.C. Leithbridge) took exception in the commonsense to a reference by Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent to Social Credit policies.

Mr. St. Laurent, asked to consider three questions by Mr. Blackmore during debate on milk subsidies, said he would give "no undertaking" that the government will seriously consider adopting the policies of Social Credit.

Later, Mr. Blackmore said he resented Mr. St. Laurent's attitude it was "an exceedingly serious matter to lay down hard and fast rules on what you'll do or won't do," he declared.

Canada Approached For Grain Treaties

OTTAWA, (CP).—Several European and Latin American countries have informed the Canadian government they are anxious to conclude wheat agreements as soon as Canada is ready.

The European countries include Belgium, Eire and France. Latin American countries were not known immediately.

There was no indication when negotiations would be opened.

Refuses to Test Strength by Vote
By Trenchy Anderson

OTTAWA.—Efforts of Karl Hornum, belligerent Progressive Conservative from Waterloo South, to needle the government into testing its strength in a vote of confidence, were brushed aside when the house resumed Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Hornum did not get any audible support from his own party colleagues and the house eventually went on with its work after Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent had suggested that "we act like grown-up people."

Mr. Hornum based his argument on the fact that the government earlier Tuesday was defeated on a motion to go into supply after Hon. C. D. Howe had released its members to vote as they liked. The amendment was over the announced policy of discontinuing the milk subsidy.

Mr. Hornum argued that the house constitutionally could not go on with its business unless it went through the motions of a vote of confidence.

Deputy speaker Ross Macdonald said that after the vote on the motion was taken, Mr. St. Laurent had decided that the house was a committee of supply. The motion was accepted unanimously and thereupon the committee was properly constituted, he maintained.

Mr. Hornum was rebuffed when the house continued with estimates.

Election Sunday For Soviet Zone

BERLIN, (ONA).—Germany's youngest political party, aided by something more than beginner's luck, is due to ride to overwhelming victory in the first elections to be held in the Soviet zone Sunday.

The Socialist Unity party, which resulted from the Soviet-sponsored merger last spring of the communists and socialists, is, according to all reports reaching Berlin, virtually guaranteed an impressive majority in the municipal, provincial and national elections.

The Liberal Democrats and the Christian Democrats.

Judging from the campaign literature, press reports and election speeches all are making appeals to German nationalism, all are asking for votes on national and international issues, and all are saying Germans have absolutely no say.

The Socialist Unity party is far the best-organized and best-financed and it gives the greatest emphasis to a nationalistic appeal. But the party's real ace in the hole is its claim made more and more openly that it has the backing of the Soviet occupation authorities, that the Soviets will give the Germans a much better deal on food, on the return of prisoners of war, on industrial rehabilitation and on other matters of vital interest to the Germans if the people vote the Socialist Unity ticket. This is one claim the opposition parties make no attempt to dispute.

Will Investigate Radio-Active Ores

OTTAWA, (CP).—The commons Tuesday voted $60,000 for investigation of radio-active ores.

Rodney Adamson, (Prog.-Cons., York West) contended that Canada was not doing enough toward discovery and development of ores which could become vital in the field of atomic energy.

Resources Minister Glen said such matters came under the presently-established atomic energy control board.

17-day Old Baby Dies in Incubator

GANGES, B.C. (CP).—Margaret Joyce Smithers, the 17-day-old incubator baby, died Tuesday.

Taking a bad turn the baby was given oxygen through an attachment to the incubator but failed to recover.

Born prematurely Aug. 11 and weighing only one pound and 14½ ounces, the infant had dropped in weight to one pound and nine ounces. A modern incubator was rushed here Aug. 23 by the Red Cross at Vancouver to replace the old type incubator at the hospital in an effort to save the baby.

Couple Honored On 50 Years Wed

VERMILION.—Pioneer residents of the Clarendon district, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bull celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently. During the day many of their old friends dropped in to offer congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Bull moved to the district in 1906, coming from Rapid City to take up a homestead on which they still reside. As pioneers they experienced many cold winter trips and plowed through deep snow with a team over the long road to Vermilion for supplies. Their home always has been open to travellers and it was a regular stopping place for the mounted police who stayed overnight many times on their regular trips between St. Paul and Vermilion.

On a great many occasions their home was a haven for those travelling in cold weather. Mrs. Bull has made many cold trips on errands of mercy while nursing the sick and her kindness will long be remembered in this district. A great many of her old-timers who moved into the district along with Mr. and Mrs. Bull have died, but they are both still in good health.

TOKYO GI'S ATTEND CLASSES UNDER ARMY'S EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

FORRESTAL ARRIVES IN BERLIN EN ROUTE HOME FROM BIKINI

COURT RECONVENES—U. S. MP Frank B. Schoemann of Wanette, Okla., gives former Jap Premier Hideki Tojo a critical once-over as he returns to the Tokyo courtroom following a recess in the War Crimes Trials. One witness testified he told Tojo the war was hopeless less than a year after the Japs hit Pearl Harbor.

GI ARTISTS IN TOKYO—Occupational duty isn't always tough. These soldiers, taking an art class at Tokyo Educational Center, sketch professional Japanese model Kiyoka Hamura. More than 2000 troops are enrolled in the Army's educational program.

IN A CHORD—Famous bandleaders Guy Lombardo, left, and Vincent Lopez get together at New York City's Waldorf-Astoria to exchange a few notes. And from the looks on their faces the key to the whole situation seems to be complete harmony.

FORRESTAL IN BERLIN—Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal salutes an honor guard that met him in Berlin on his round-the-world trip home from Bikini Atoll. With him are Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Rear Admiral R. E. Schuirmann.

SUMMER IN ITALY—These pictures of post-war Rome show none of the devastation of war. Rome, instead, looks much like any other big city sweltering in the summer's heat. Temperature of 97 degrees drove bathers, right, into cool waters of the Tiber River. River may have been muddy but bathers loved it. Sidewalk shopkeeper and his woman helper, below, take advantage of slack business to grab an afternoon siesta. Most of the city closed down from 1 to 4 P.M., hottest hours of a hot day. Among the few shoppers, lower right, were two Americans looking for souvenirs for folks back home.

BOY KING—This informal picture shows 11-year-old King Feisal of Iraq during his English holiday at Grove Lodge, Windsor, Berkshire. Boy-king's vacation companion was a brigadier-general.

PUSS IN THE HYDRANT—William Garrity, Chicago water department foreman, plays rescue hero to a dirty, wet and thoroughly frightened but otherwise unharmed kitten. Some practical joker is believed to have pushed the puss into the hydrant.

DREAMY-EYED Sheila Ryan is a summer-time vision of sweet, fresh American girlhood in this ruffled off-the-shoulder blouse. She next appears in 20th Century-Fox's "Deadline for Murder."

PICTURE DEBUT—Film actress Deanna Durbin plays a supporting role in the camera debut of her infant daughter, Jessica Louise Jackson, who was born February 7. Daddy is producer Felix Jackson. Deanna's next picture is "I'll Be Yours."

CONFUSED STATE(S)—Officially Rebecca Jane McCall, 19, is "Miss Arkansas." But there still is some Congressional argument about it. Rep. E. C. Toole of Arkansas claims her for Arkansas. Rep. Tom Murray of Tennessee says she's really from his state. In Memphis, Rebecca admitted she was born in Tennessee, but was moved to Blytheville, Ark., two weeks later.

OFF TO EUROPE—In the vanguard of entertainers who will trek to Europe this summer now that travel restrictions are being lifted are Mary Kaye and Naldi, dancers, who open at London's Palladium theater in August. They already are scheduled for a command performance before Princess Elizabeth.

Re-Establishment Credit Buys Shop

MONTREAL, Aug. 28.—(CP)—Cathleen Welch, a former major in the Canadian Women's Army Corps, Friday is the proud proprietor of a de-luxe women's shop at nearby Hudson Heights, Quebec, thanks to her re-establishment credit.

Back in 1942, while still a private in the CWAC, Miss Welch, a former youth training organizer, laid plans for eventually owning a business of her own. As soon as her discharge came through she bought a loom and started weaving original patterns in a dinner set and fancy goods, industriously building up a stock of merchandise.

Now she employs six women working full time on fancy table sets and linens.

Youth Employment Centres Help Entry Into Business

By KAY REX

TORONTO, Aug. 28.—(CP)—Girls and boys between the ages of 16 and 21, hesitating on the threshold of the business world, are being helped over the hurdles of finding their job by the Youth Employment Centre operating here under the National Employment Service.

Interest in the centre, which was opened two months ago, has already spread to other cities throughout Canada and plans are underway to develop similar bureaux in Montreal, Winnipeg, and possibly in Vancouver.

It was largely through the work of E.G. Sullivan, Ontario Regional Superintendent of the centre, and Miss Mary Edie, acting supervisor of the centre, that this effort to direct Canadian youth into suitable employment was initiated. They saw that not only are young people at a loss to know how to begin when looking for their first job, but also with the return of Canada's war veterans, girls who during the war took the place of men in banks, stores and offices, found themselves unemployed with the coming of peace. Boys who had dropped out of school to work in war plants found themselves with insufficient education nor experience to take worthwhile jobs.

One of the problems of the centre is to re-educate these young workers to the fact that the high salaries they drew as unskilled workers were only temporary. At the centre they are told that starting into the business world means beginning at the bottom and working up.

"We aim to give these young persons self-confidence and send them to jobs for which they are suited," said Miss Edie. "Each youngster is interviewed by a counsellor well equipped to give advice on any subject."

Physical handicaps such as poor eyesight and deafness also are considered, and jobs to which they can most easily be fitted.

Miss Edie said she hoped eventually part of them would be taught in school how to approach a prospective employer. She said for the most part they are timid and many of them seem shy of telling what they are able and like to work at.

From the fact that fewer girls have registered at the centre than boys it would seem the girls for the most part are timid and many longer with their education than the boys.

At the present time, Miss Edie said young people generally are approaching the problem of leaving school "very thoughtfully," and several of them have visited the centre to confer with her before deciding definitely to forsake the classroom for the office.

Public Thinks Labor Strikes Are Doing Harm to Workers

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

TORONTO.—More than half the adult population of Canada feel that, from the short term view, at least, labor is doing itself more harm than good by current strikes. This public reaction is all the more striking when it is recalled that, in its last report, the Institute of Public Opinion showed that more than six in 10 Canadians are in favor of collective bargaining or union principle.

The current survey asked voters, through a miniature electorate or cross-section, a series of questions. First of which was:

"Do you think laboring people in general in this country are better off or worse off as a result of the strikes in the past year?"

Better off ..... 33%
Worse off ..... 52%
No difference ..... 15%

Among those groups who are particularly emphatic in believing that labor is doing itself no good by current strikes are farmers, people who would vote Progressive Conservative today, upper income people, and workers who are not members of a labor union. Conversely, those who are more inclined to think that labor is benefiting itself by strikes are big city dwellers, C.C.P. supporters, lower income and union members.

It is logical to think that, while the short-term effect of strikes on labor's position is bad, the long-term results might be beneficial. Some of those interviewed on this question might have answered in terms of the immediate effect, others in terms of the ultimate effect. Accordingly, the entire sample was asked a further question:

"Do you think they (laboring people) will be better off or worse off in the long run—say in five years?"

Put in this way, the weight of opinion shifted from "worse" to "better" but still left considerably less than a majority who felt that labor was helping itself. The undecided vote, of course, was considerably higher.

Better off ..... 36%
Worse off ..... 39%
No difference ..... 25%

While, among union members, less than a majority (45 percent) thought the short term effect would be good, a decided majority (59 percent) felt that over a period of say five years, the effect on the position of labor would be good.

Those interviewed who, in answering the first question, expressed definite opinion as to whether labor is worse off or better off were asked:

"In what way?"
Dominating reason for believing that the worker would be worse off was that strikes lost him so much money. A close second was the belief that higher wages, even if won through strikes, only resulted in inflation.

Those who felt the worker would benefit from strikes, referred in the main to "better wages" or "living conditions." "Better working conditions" came next.

Japan's 1945 rice crop was short because of typhoons and floods and the 1946 crop is expected to be poor due to soil exhaustion caused by lack of fertilizer during war years.

Reds Charge U. S. Using Pressure

LONDON, (AP)—Moscow radio Tuesday charged the United States with attempting to exert pressure on Yugoslavia with a display of naval force in the Mediterranean, and claimed that Britain is striving for "unilateral domination" in the Middle East.

Moscow commentator D. Melnikov declared the American-Yugoslav incident "would have gone unnoticed if it had been adjusted through the usual channels—until an apology had gone from the government whose plane had violated the borders of the other government."

Seek Ancient Age In Bombed Ruins

LONDON, (CP)—Watched by idlers, enthusiasts, sidewalk critics and passers-by, excavators are searching for clues to the ancient history of London under the bomb-damaged ruins of the present-day city.

Eighteen feet beneath the rubble that bombs made fast of Gutter Lane, Chiswick, there recently were discovered remains of poor-class timbered dwellings belonging to an age when London was thought to be a city of proud Roman villas.

As a result experts of the Society of Antiquaries, the Haverfield Trust, the London and Guildhall Museums and the British Council of Archaeology are acquiring a new impression of London life about 100 A.D.

The answers lie under the buildings of Leadenhall market, the highest point in ancient London, Chiswick and areas centred on Cannon and Fleet streets where two tributaries of the Thames—the rivers Wallbrook and Fleet—once flowed.

Working within 30 yards of a busy London main road, the student diggers scrape gingerly round the remains of Roman villas with trowels, sifting earth for fragments of pottery, bone and household implements. Jagged stones—or so they seem to bystanders—are eagerly selected and cleaned for inspection.

Time is a vital element in their researches. The archaeologists are racing to unearth the story of ancient London before city planners begin the work of reconstruction on the open spaces left by German raiders.

Each committee will investigate the problems in his community and forward the information to the aviation council of the Denver Chamber of Commerce for analysis. The action was decided upon at a meeting of the air route association.

Delegates favored the Edmonton-Parklands route, which parallels the Alaska highway, because airports are set up along the road every 200 miles.
